New Tariff Agreement Reached By U. S. And England

WHEAT NATIONS MEET

Committee Named To Draft
Compromise After Two Hour Conference Fails

LONDON, July 20.—(UP)—Great Britain, the United States and several other great powers have agreed to a tariff truce to remain effective until the World Economic conference is finally wound up, regardless of the duration of the coming recess, it was understood tonight.

However, it was understood any nation could withdraw after July 31, on one month's notice. The final plenary session of the conference was expected to vote in favor of the latter point, although some nations objected to it.

At a two-hour meeting today, nations interested in wheat appointed a committee of six to draft a compromise, reconciling proposals of important nations with demands of export nations.

Australia, Canada and a Danubian delegate will represent the exporters; Great Britain, France and Italy the importers.

Disagreements
Speeches at the meeting indicated strong disagreement regarding exporters' insistence that importers reduce their wheat acreage, so as to give more room for foreign wheat. It was thought a compromise might be reached under which the importers would agree not to increase acreage.

While the exporting and importing nations were culminating their negotiations in a vague compromise, covering general principals, the "big four" negotiators—America, Canada, Australia and Argentina—were approaching an agreement with Russia by which she would have an export quota of about 80,000,000 bushels.

One by one the planned agreements have proven impossible. After refusal of the United States to stabilize its currency, hopes for tariff agreements were gone. But conferees thought agreements on several commodities were possible before the conference recesses July 27.

Pact Delayed
Senator Key Pittman, Dem., Nevada, indicated in a speech today before the silver committee that an agreement to control silver might be delayed for a month or

GERMAN CHANCELLOR SIGNS PEACE PACT

VATICAN CITY, July 20.—(UP)—Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, and Cardinal Pacelli, Papal secretary of state, today signed a treaty between Germany and the Vatican.

Von Papen flew from Berlin for the signing ceremony, which occurred at 11 a. m.

The treaty established the rights of the Roman Catholic church in Germany, and accords it equality with other religions.

Under its terms, the church agrees that no organization under its name shall engage in any but purely religious activities.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST S. A. EDITOR

MANSLAUGHTER charges were filed against J. F. Burke, editor and publisher of The Register this afternoon, the result of an automobile accident that occurred nearly 10 months ago in which Henry Prichard, 49, El Modena rancher, was killed. The crash took place on September 29, 1932, at the intersection of Fairhaven and Hewes avenues.

LIBRARY FOR BIRCH PARK IS NOW PROPOSED

PRELIMINARY STEPS in the consolidation of county and city government in Santa Ana were foreseen today with the proposal that the county library, city library and high school and junior college library all be combined in a modern building on the west side of Birch park, previously suggested as a site for the new $100,000 city hall.

Coinciding with the announcement from city officials and Chamber of Commerce that the combined library project was being given serious consideration, was the legal opinion by City Attorney Clyde Downing that although the Birch park deeds and supreme court rulings would prohibit the erection of a city hall, there could be no legal objection to the placing of a library, museum or similar building.

Operating costs of the four libraries at present are much larger than they would be in one consolidated building, it was pointed out by Mayor Paul Witmer. In addition, Birch park is within two blocks of the high school campus, three blocks from McKinley school, close to the center of the business district, yet far enough away as to avoid congestion and traffic, he said.

Many Proposals
With Birch park definitely out of the picture for a city hall, general opinion is to the effect that property near the courthouse and the former site at Third and Main streets will rank first in consideration.

If the city library was removed from its present location at Fifth and Sycamore, it would be possible to build a city hall on the site with the addition of a strip of land on the rear of the lot. Another possible deal would be for the city to trade the Third and Main street site for land facing on Broadway or Sixth. The empty garage building and lot on the southeast corner of Sixth and Broadway, reported to be owned by the Santora Land company, is a possibility for a trade although city officials have not approached the owners.

Definite action on the city hall and library propositions will come up Monday night at the council meeting. It has been established that an election will have to be called to allow the city to secure funds under the federal public works program and councilmen are favorable to the proposition of letting the voters choose the site on the same ballot.

LOAN VALUES OF COUNTY PRESENTED TO FEDERAL BANK HEAD AT CONCLAVE

RECOGNITION of loan values held by Orange county farm property under provisions of the Farm Credit Act, passed during the closing hours of Congress, heretofore held in abeyance on account of some doubt as to the adequacy of water supply, was contained in statements yesterday afternoon by Willard Ellis, president of the Berkeley Federal Land Bank, at a conference meeting held at the Orange County Farm Bureau offices.

His visit to Orange county was in direct response to an invitation extended by the farm bureau, which organization had previously made representations to his office requesting farm holdings in this county be included in loan-value classifications. Mr. Ellis is on his way to Washington, where he will submit his findings and recommendations regarding Orange county to the executives of the Farm Credit Administration.

C. A. Palmer, well known Orange citrus grower, chairman of the committee on rural credits of the farm bureau, presided over the conference, which was attended by officers of the organization, Farm advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, S. T. Harding, well known Berkeley engineer, associated with the Farm Credit Administration; local bank officials, and general representative growers. Secretary Roland E. Flaherty of the farm bureau, acted as secretary.

Recommendations
Following were the principal points brought out in the conference:

(1) On recommendation of President Ellis, the proposed organization of an Orange County Farm Loan Association, when undertaken should include adjacent territory within a distance of about 10 miles of the county limits, this to facilitate loans on property which may extend across the county limits, or having water and other services originating in near-lying counties.

(2) Likewise on recommendation of President Ellis, that, when decided to organize a loan association, five representative men, drawn from different parts of the county, occupying the status of borrowers, be selected as charter members. The position of secretary-treasurer, should be filled by a competent man, preferably one with some experience in making loans on real estate.

(3) Until such time as an association has been formed, loans on Orange county property should be handled direct by an agent appointed to serve the district.

(4) The interest rate on Federal Land Bank Loans will be 4-1/2 per cent until July 1, 1933, after which date the rate will be raised to 5 per cent.

(5) Loans are not based on the size of property but on its productive value in meeting fixed

EXPECT RETURN OF SACRAMENTO GIRL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 20.—(UP)—Return of Helen Lyons, 13, Sacramento, to her father after her asserted abduction in Merced two weeks ago, was expected shortly, Clarence Morrill, superintendent of the bureau of criminal identification, announced last night.

Morrill said he had information the girl was in Southern California. She had been abandoned by her kidnaper, believed by authorities to be a man named E. Doyle. Charles Stone, assistant bureau superintendent, is in Southern California searching for the girl, Morrill said. A warrant has been sworn out for Doyle's arrest.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING TEACHER

HUNTINGTON LAKE, Calif., July 20.—(UP)—Hope of finding Irma Givens, missing Glendale school teacher, waned today as search parties reported they were unable to obtain trace of the 22-year-old girl.

Belief that Miss Givens drowned while swimming during a solitary boat ride was strengthened as search of the lake shores failed to indicate she was marooned when her boat floated away. Miss Givens was a student at the Fresno State College summer school here. She disappeared Monday. Her boat, containing bathing cap, shoes and watch, was found drifting on the lake that night.

BEDLAM BREAKS LOOSE WHEN WHEAT CRASHES IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 20.—(UP)—The magnificent wheat pit of the Chicago board of trade turned to bedlam today in the midst of terrific gyrations in wheat prices that plunged 26 cents a bushel below yesterday's highs before the decline halted.

At the close wheat was 13 1/2 cents lower, corn 12 to 13 3/4 cents lower, oats 7 1/8 cents lower, rye 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 cents lower.

Perspiring brokers peeled off coats and rolled up their shirt sleeves as they fought to unload hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain on an almost bottomless market.

So intense was the confusion that different quotations were being offered simultaneously in various parts of the pit.

The close came at the day's low point. July wheat futures at Chicago sold at 90 cents, September at 91 cents, December at 95 1/2 cents and May at an even $1 a bushel.

Corn prices toppled to 46 cents a bushel for July, 53 cents for September, 56 1/2 for December and 63 1/2 cents for May. Oats were down to 35 cents for July, 34 1/2 cents for September, 37 cents for December and 41 cents for May. Rye, which made the widest drop, plunged to 69 cents for July, 67 cents for September, 72 3/4 for December and 81 1/2 cents for May.

The session was the wildest seen since the panic of October, 1929, and the war markets of 1917 and 1920.

Rallies occurred from time to time but so terrific was the flood

POMONA VOTES FOR BEER AT ELECTION

POMONA, July 20.—(UP)—Pomona, considered the dry stronghold of Los Angeles county since 1889, has voted in favor of legalized 3.2 per cent beer and wine.

By a vote of 3515 to 2811, citizens yesterday authorized the repeal of a "bone dry" section of the city charter, adopted in 1911. Only two of the town's eight precincts voted to continue its arid tradition.

Before beer sales may be permitted, however, the amendment must be approved by the state legislature and the city council must repeal a "little Volstead law" which has stood in some form since 1889.

RUSSIANS WILL FLY MATTERN TO NOME

MOSCOW, July 20.—(UP)—Aviator Levanevsky, of the Russian Arctic air service, planned to take off from Anadir, Siberia, today, for Nome, Alaska, with James J. Matern, stranded American world flyer.

Matern hoped to continue his world flight from Nome. Levanevsky arrived at Anadir July 18, after waiting for days for the weather to improve over the Okhotsk sea. Levanevsky was missing for some time, and fear was felt for his safety because of the fog hanging over the dangerous Okhotsk sea stretch of his rescue flight.

BULLETIN

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 20.—(UP)—Wiley Post, "round-the-world flier," passed over Ruby, Alaska, 200 miles west of here, at 11:30 a. m. (1:30 p. m. PST) today, according to a radio report received here. Post was flying through very bad weather. Rain was falling hard and the ceiling was only 400 feet.

NOME, Alaska, July 20.—(UP)—Flying at terrific speed, Wiley Post, "round the world flier" flew over Nome at 7:30 a. m. today (10:30 a. m. PST). He did not stop but proceeded on toward Fairbanks, 520 miles inland.

He made the flight from Khabarovsk, Siberia in 15 hours and 32 minutes, one hour and 13 minutes ahead of the time it took Post and his companion, Harold Gatty, to make the same flight two years ago.

Post left Khabarovsk, Siberia at 6:58 p. m. PST, yesterday and was 30 hours and 29 minutes ahead of his former record when he arrived here.

When he passed Nome, Post was about 31 hours and a half ahead of the record he and Gatty established.

The "Iron Man" Oklahoman, flew the treacherous Bering Sea course with unerring accuracy and in the face of wind, rain and poor visibility.

The fact that he did not stop here for fuel was taken to indicate that he had not encountered rigorous storms, however.

His manager had a supply of fuel ready for him at Solomon airport. When he passed over Nome, Post had conquered the most hazardous parts of his record-breaking flight, and the remainder of the journey, although through a favorable weather should be three easy hops for him.

After his 520 mile trip to Fairbanks he had two hops more before he would return to Floyd Bennett Airport in New York, where he took off at 4:10 a. m. EST, July 15. The jump from Fairbanks to Edmonton is 1450 miles and from Edmonton to New York 2200 miles.

Post and Gatty flew from Nome to Fairbanks in two hours and 55 minutes. If Post keeps up his speed, and does not encounter bad weather, he should arrive at Fairbanks about 10:10 a. m. (12:10 p. m. PST.)

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, July 20.—(UP)—Wiley Post, American around the world flier, recovering all of the time lost in recent delays arrived here from Khabarovsk at 8:35 p. m. (E.D.T.) Wednesday and took off at 10:58 p. m. for Fairbanks, Alaska.

Hailing only for fuel and to have the Winnie Mae overhauled, the American "Iron Man" took off on the 3,000 mile hop to Fairbanks, by far the most dangerous of all he has made to date, 30 hours 16 minutes ahead of the record he and Harold Gatty made two years ago—a record he hopes to better alone by arriving at Floyd Bennett Airport, New York, before 9:01 p. m. (E.D.T.) Sunday.

Post's plane and its motor were in splendid condition when he started from this town in extreme eastern Siberia for a flight over the Goffy Okhotsk sea, across the Kamchatka peninsula, and over the Bering Sea into the far interior of Alaska, north of Mt. McKinley.

It was this stretch that brought disaster to James Matern, who preceded Post and after a forced

$240,000 Will Of Pioneer Filed For Probate

CHURCH GROUPS OF SOUTHLAND GET THOUSANDS

Disposing of $240,000 in direct bequests and directing that the residue of the estate be equally divided between her sisters, brothers, nieces and nephews, the last will of Mrs. Maria L. Harris, pioneer Santa Ana woman and active member of the First Christian church, has been filed for probate.

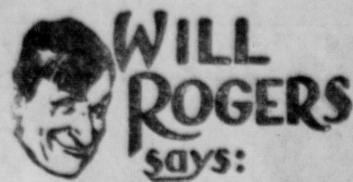

The petition for probate of the will was filed by A. J. Cruickshank and H. J. Forgy, named in the instrument, dated May 8, 1915, as executors. Forgy, under instructions contained in the will, is to receive $5000, and Cruickshank $1000, as compensation for their services as executors.

In the petition filed with the will, the estate of Mrs. Harris, who died July 3, 1923, is listed as exceeding $10,000 in value with personal property valued at $25,000. Real estate with an annual rental value of $5000 is listed.

The majority of the bequests were to mission and religious groups allied with the Christian church. The First Christian church of Santa Ana was bequeathed $5000, and the Ladies' Aid society of the same church received $1000.

Other church organizations benefitting under the will of the late pioneer were: Christian Women's Board of missions, $25,000; California School of Christianity, $25,000; Foreign Board of Missions of the Christian church, $50,000; Home Board of Foreign Missions of the Christian church, $50,000; Christian Extension board of the Christian church, $25,000; Christian Church Japanese mission in Los Angeles, $5000; Southern California Board of Christian churches, $5000; Long Beach Christian Home for the Aged and orphans, $5000.

Bequests of $5000 each were left to the following relatives: Mrs. Mary E. Griffith, a sister; Hansler Larter, brother; R. E. Larter, brother; Arthur N. Harris, BEVERLY HILLS, July 20. (To the Editor of The Register:) I guess Dempsey's got a cheerful little earful. I guess Balbo (the only young man that ever looked well in whiskers) is flying somewhere. I guess the photographers at the London conference are breaking up all the plates they exposed there. I guess Alabama and Arkansas voted to show their natives that there was Bourbon as well as corn, that all whisky was not white. I guess our great little Oklahoma flyer is ahead of his record. I guess California (as usual to be the biggest) passed the highest sales tax rate of the whole forty-eight. I say I guess all these things, for they are not in any of the papers. Nothing can get in a paper when Sister Aimee is in, so we are all practically isolated from the world for the next couple of weeks.

brother-in-law; Albert E. Harris, brother-in-law, and Mrs. Laura Robinson, sister-in-law.

The following nieces and nephews were left $500 each: Helen Young Crawford, Ethel Miller, Marie Harris Greathouse, Lulu Harris, E. A. White, Dorothy Forgy, Laurence Harris and Florence M. Bowes.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(UP)—Chief of Police Joseph A. Gerk, whose men have been aiding department of justice agents in investigation of the kidnaping of August Luer, 77-year-old Alton, Ill., banker, announced today that the case had been "cleaned up" with the arrest of six additional persons.

TARIFF TRUCE IS REACHED BY GREAT POWERS

Now coffee, sugar, tin and cocoa committees have adjourned without reaching agreements. The silver subcommittee had hoped to reach agreement and the wheat negotiators, trying to plan an increase in price, seemed for a time on the verge of agreement.

But a world agreement was necessary. Both producers and importers had to be brought together. When it seemed the five great exporting nations—United States, Canada, Australia, Argentina and Russia, and the European exporting countries in the Danube area—might agree, they found that the present level, but said merely they would not encourage more wheat acreage. Instead of offering to lower their tariffs, they said they recognized that rising wheat prices naturally would result in lower tariffs.

Nine European importing nations prepared a proposal, to be submitted to the "big four" wheat nations today, which was at once declared unacceptable. They would not agree to restrict acreage to the present level, but said merely they would not encourage more wheat acreage. Instead of offering to lower their tariffs, they said they recognized that rising wheat prices naturally would result in lower tariffs.

chamber of commerce, everyone present endorsed the proposition to have the city hall located within one block of the courthouse. The use of Birch park for a site was protested and the deeds were read to show that it would be illegal to build a city hall on either end of the block.

City Attorney Downing based his decision that a library could be built in the park after studying supreme court decisions. Several years ago, the city of Los Angeles received permission from the state supreme court to build a library in Pershing square, despite the fact that the deed said that the property should be used for park purposes only. In the ruling, the court declared that libraries, museums, monuments, veterans' memorials, and similar structures were construed as being consistent with park purposes.

Move Rest Rooms
If a new library was built in the park, the present band stand and rest rooms would be removed and placed in the library building. The same general plans as those advanced for the city hall were followed, in that a large platform would be built on the east side of the building to provide an improved band stand, speakers' platform and similar structures. It is pointed out by city officials that this would enhance the value of the park, add to its attractiveness, and give more opportunity to use it.

With the return of Councilman William Penn from the east, all five councilmen will be present Monday to discuss the matter. Opinion is somewhat divided among the councilmen as to where they favor the city hall but all are anxious to let the voters take the initiative in picking a site.

of selling orders that brokers labored under a veritable avalanche in attempting any effort to halt the decline.

Transactions varied as much as a cent at a time. At one point a broker on one side of the pit was observed bidding 94 cents for September wheat and a man a few feet away was offering 95 cents.

Nearly every active broker was on the floor attempting to care for the flood of orders. Great lines of wheat that had been built up during the market's spectacular advance through May and June were being poured into the market, especially by houses with eastern connections.

Brokers were working against time, a general belief having spread through trading circles that the Chicago market was not alone in the exciting decline. The break at Minneapolis was more than 8 cents, at Duluth between 8 and 9 cents. At Winnipeg where the decline was not quite so severe, it was reported the Canadian government was buying wheat.

Other sentiment spread to other commodity markets. Butter dropped $240 a carload and eggs at $170 a carload. Sales totaled 1106 cars, an all time record.

LOAN VALUES OF COUNTY ARE PRESENTED TO FEDERAL BANK HEAD AT CONFERENCE HERE

In this connection, President Ellis admitted there is room for liberalization of the law, and asked that the farm bureau through a special committee, make a study of the subject with a view to submitting recommendations. The bank executive suggested that in making recommendations, the question of adequate water supply, at a reasonable cost, with guaranteed rights, be made a part of loan conditions. He also intimated that the character of management and soil conditions are other factors that should be given consideration in drafting loan conditions.

Coupled with the water supply question, President Ellis announced that territory served by the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation district and the Anaheim Union Water company, is acceptable for loaning purposes by his bank. He explained, however, that no blanket rule is applicable in the matter of determining eligibility for loans, and that each case rests on its own merits.

The statement that the legal department of the land bank does not look with favor upon Torrens titles came in reply to a query from W. C. Mauerhan, Anaheim rancher, who explained his property was covered by such a title.

In order to effect a speedy as well as permanent ruling on loan values of so-called orchard property, it was suggested by the farm bureau officials that a certain piece of property, meeting all other requirements, be made the object of a loan application, this to have a test case in the premises.

President Ellis said that he would have no objection to such a procedure, reiterating, however, a former statement that action on loan applications is not governed by any blanket rule, and that each case is determined on its own merits.

Secretary Flaherty of the farm bureau today announced the appointment of a special committee of O. E. Stewart, Ed. Farinworth, and C. Roy Brown, to draft recommendations which, if accepted by the Farm Credits Administration, will tend to liberalize the restrictions placed on orchard property loan values.

Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, is serving his eleventh term in that capacity.

landing on Anadyr bay, was lost to the world for days.

Post apparently had no doubt but that he would succeed. He left Irkutsk at midnight Tuesday, (E.D.T.), after being held on the ground 15 hours 25 minutes by bad weather. He was but 3 hours 24 minutes ahead of the Post-Gatty record then.

He landed at Rukhlovo next, after flying so low that treetops scratched the fuselage of his plane, at 7:32 a. m. Wednesday.

The next word of him was when he arrived here. He was six hours, 9 minutes ahead of the record he made with Gatty when he landed. They were held at Blagoveschensk 15 hrs. 20 min. and held here 26 hrs. 30 min. Post, by taking off 2 hours 23 minutes after he arrived, began the dangerous homeward journey farther ahead than at any point since he left New York at 5:10 a. m. (E.D.T.) last Saturday.

Post made the 640 miles from Rukhlovo to Khabarovsk in 4 hours 10 minutes.

Russians were concerned for his safety in the Alaskan hop. Not only was Mattern forced to land in better weather than Post had, but all weather reports for days had been pessimistic. A Russian aviator, following the first part of Post's Alaskan course, was held for days by heavy fog over the Okhotsk Sea.

From Fairbanks, Post's course lies over Canada to Edmonton, a stretch of 1450 miles, and then non stop to New York and Floyd Bennett airport, 2,200 miles.

His enforced delays had put him in good physical condition for the gruelling flight.

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

RADIO
In between dance orchestras and heaven-sent crooners, have you been listening nightly on your radio to the wondrous claims for this and that product obtainable at the drugstore or the corner grocery store?

If not, lend an ear. After Congress reassembles next January a graphic version of their marvelous qualities and properties may be lost to you forever.

There's a bill due to come up that has radio and its advertisers shaking in their boots.

The measure in question is a brand-new Food and Drug Act. It was written by Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, Roosevelt brain-truster and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Tugwell completed his bill and had it in the hopper before the special session adjourned last month. It would have passed then except it was NOT an emergency measure.

There is reason to believe it will be adopted next winter.

A stringent and all-inclusive "false advertising" clause is causing all the anticipatory woe.

If it becomes a law there are any number of tall and lofty claims that will never come over the radio any more.

Or be seen in print, for that matter.

MEDICINE

Patent medicine advertising, either in the papers or on the label, likewise will come in for a well-planned sock.

The proposed law cites a number of diseases and ailments and declares any preparation will be guilty of infringement if it claims to cure, aid or even relieve them.

Just for an example, mumps and sinus trouble are two "mentioned."

WRINKLE

Professor Tugwell also hopes to protect the ladies. He has included cosmetics in his bill.

If the Professor's act is passed it will no longer be possible to mix up a dime's worth of glycerine and a little rose water and sell it under a fancy label with Parisian name for two dollars.

And furthermore, as you grow older—heaven forbid—he hopes to prevent anyone telling you there is a cream or lotion extant, that will keep those wrinkles from your neck and chin.

The very able interests touched by the prospective restrictions will fight plenty.

MEANS

Gaston B. Means has come a cropper again. Remember him? He's the arch rogue who topped off a talkative career by chiseling $104,000 out of Mrs. Edward B. McLean on the pretext he could return the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

as per intimations from Washington—but how?

Some of the fanciest pool maneuvers on record have been pulled in the last week. Every time worn trick of the trade was trotted out for the public's edification. Pool favorites were jigged upward in a manner to make the amateur's mouth water, to the accompaniment of luscious rumors about miraculous earnings. And the amateurs bit in carload lots.

Now the professionals in question can sit back with their profits and enjoy being virtuous. What happens to the amateur's peace of mind and pocketbook doesn't worry them.

New York authorities say that the income tax law has undoubtedly contributed to the speculative fever. People with profits hesitate to take them because they don't want to pay the taxes. This artificially reduces the supply of stocks in relation to demand and helps inflate the gaudy price bubble.

DOUGLAS

New York friends of Lewis Douglas hear that his rumored appointment as Secretary of the Treasury is likely to come off within a month or so. That way it may be possible to avoid a battle over his confirmation. It is much harder for the Senate to refuse to confirm a man who has held office for several months than a candidate who is offered while Congress is in session.

The same friends say this would be the best solution to a situation which is becoming embarrassing to both Douglas and the administration. As budget director he is in continual conflict with certain aspects of the New Deal. The clash of ideas would be minimized in the Treasury department.

PROFESSORS

New York comments that Washington showed a sense of humor in naming Professors James Harvey Rogers and George Warren as co-workers. Both are inflationists but Rogers is a warm advocate of credit expansion and thinks devaluation is the bunk.

Warren holds exactly opposite views. They say here it's like asking California and Florida to agree which has the better climate.

POSTMASTERS

New York political experts are stunned with admiration for the move to place postmasters under the Civil Service law. They say it will do more to make the world safe for THE Democracy than any political stunt that has been tried yet.

The "top three" angle will take care of deserving Democrats. This provides that any one of the three candidates with the highest examination marks may be chosen for the job. If a Congressman hasn't a candidate who can qualify in the top three there's something wrong with his system. And once in, the postmasters are in to stay.

Local observers also point out that this plan will spare Congressmen lots of grief who have several candidates for the same job. They can simply tell the competitors to hop to it and make the best man win. Then the vast national organization which trains its own boys to win in examinations will get off the political necks.

The fact that politicians apparently haven't discovered these angles yet is seen here as one of the smartest aspects of the plan. Half its publicity value would have been destroyed if they had been pleased with it.

BANKS

A group of industrialists who have no love for the New York banks are planning a stroke which has local financiers worried.

Their idea is to establish a new bank in New York which will be kept in such condition that it can advertise that its entire deposits are covered by assets rediscountable with the Federal reserve. A bank with such a platform could draw plenty of deposits from its competitors—which would please its sponsors no end.

The project is still in the talking stage. Nothing may come of it for some time. But the people behind it are neither bluffers nor pikers.

MORTGAGES

Some lawyers think the abolition of the gold clause may have the legal effect of closing all open mortgages. There will be plenty of excitement if that happens.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments cannot do this—an internal medicine should be used, HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead part.

Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy Drug Co., 2 stores, invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles no matter how stubborn the case?

SO DO I—BUT CAMELS NEVER GET ON THE NERVES.

I SMOKE A LOT AT THE RACES.

Just One Woman to Another!

"Oh Dear—I'm all Tired Out"

"It isn't the actual work on wash-day that makes me so tired—it's the WAITING for water to heat."

Then came words of wisdom from her neighbor sitting on the garden wall—cool, fresh, and unharmed, although her washing had been out and on the line for hours.

"You should have an automatic gas water heater. If it is properly built and fully insulated, it KEEPS the water hot. Just turn the faucet ANYTIME and hot water flows in abundance. I have a Welsbach 'Hotzone' but there are a number of other good ones on the market."

NEW TEACHERS SIGNED UP AT WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 20.—The three last teachers to complete the faculty of Westminster and Hoover schools were signed up at Wednesday evening's school board meeting by the trustees, Matt Cochran, Armand Heil and Clyde Day.

Of the three, two are new teachers, Miss Helen McCoy of Fontana, a native daughter of Westminster, and Miss Corrie Ivy, resident of Barber City. The third to sign was Verne Harrison of Santa Ana, who last year taught music part time in the Westminster school and will continue with the same schedule for the coming term.

There are five new teachers on the local staff this term, the superintendent, Cecil D. Hardesty, who completes a masters course at U.C. this summer; Orion Bebermeyer who will be vice principal of Westminster school and who has taught at Costa Mesa; N. L. Otis, principal of Hoover school, and Francis Dell who is of Montebello and the two latest employed, Miss McCoy and Miss Ivy.

Teachers returning to the faculty are Mrs. Fred Cooke, Mrs. Phyllis Ryckman, Mrs. Wilma Mackey Hawley, Mrs. Robert Erdman, Miss Nellie French, Mrs. Ethel Paulk of La Habra, and Verne Harrison. Mr. Otis, Mrs. Paulk and Miss Ivy will compose the Hoover school faculty.

Wages of teachers have not been set and the decision of the grade which each teacher in Westminster school will have is left to the new superintendent.

Mr. Perrine of the firm of Perrine and Mackey, architects and engineers, who are in charge of arrangements and plans for Westminster school reconstruction, attended the board meeting. He has just returned from his third trip to Sacramento in the interest of school building matters and stated that the state board has not yet approved any plans.

The school reconstruction could begin now would be about September 1, as securing the necessary funds for the construction will entail legal "red tape" whether a tax levy is made or a bond election is held.

The reconstruction of the building will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 while the least a new school could be erected for would be approximately $40,000 or $45,000.

CITY COUNCIL AT BREA PROTESTS PROPOSAL TO TAX MUNICIPAL RECEIPTS

BREA, July 20.—Councilmen Schweitzer, Baldwin, Close and Wakeman last night approved the action of Mayor L. A. Hogue in sending to Assemblyman Craig at Sacramento a wire protesting the bill which proposes to tax municipal receipts. Mayor Hogue sent the wire after having received one from C. R. Reid, San Francisco, secretary of the California Municipal Utilities association, which organization is vigorously attacking the bill.

Anticipating the receipt of state funds from the allocation of gasoline taxes, the council last night instructed City Engineer R. W. Phelps to set up a tentative program for the improvement of streets within the city, and asked that he submit it at the next regular meeting.

Phelps again submitted data gathered in the project of the council to secure suitable land for the drilling of a water well for domestic use in the city. This matter is of vital importance to the city, and it is expected that the site will be selected soon and operations begun.

B. Arruoz appeared before the council requesting a permit for the use of waste water at the sewage plant of the city, which plan adjourns the Arruoz ranch west of Brea. The permit was granted, with the understanding that the Union Oil company may at any time claim a prior right to the water.

Fred Boxall, street superintendent, presented a request from Ross Lee that he be allowed to remove two trees from in front of his residence property on South Walnut. Lee will be allowed to remove the trees, having promised to replace them with palms in keeping with the tree planting project which the city expects to launch.

Attorney Albert Launer reviewed the program which will be carried out at the meeting of the League of Municipalities at Newport Beach on the evening of July 28. Mayor Hogue and most of the councilmen expect to be present, as well as City Engineer Phelps.

W. H. Taylor, the former registrar here, is now in charge daily at the unemployment relief office in the city hall.

Registrar Taylor has stressed the point that all registered unemployed men should report to the local office for service and assistance, for if they report at the central office in the Orange County welfare department at Santa Ana, they will only be referred back to the local office.

According to a report from B. V. Curry, the director of the county welfare department at Santa Ana, the work assignments will be made by mail from the central office. In the event that men assigned need transportation to the work, they should contact the office of the local registrar who will have on file complete information as to all men reporting to work on any project; through the registrar the men who have cars and trucks will be contacted and arrangements made between the men so that all will be assured of having a way to get to work.

Curry's report also requests that all men registered who secure or abandon temporary employment shall keep the local registrar informed. The request was made by Taylor of the local office that all men receiving work orders who, because of temporary employment or any other cause, cannot use the order, shall surrender it promptly to him so that another man may be assigned to take his place.

Begin Here Today

Linda Averill believes her elderly cousin, Amos DeVos, was murdered when he fell from the second story balcony of the Averill Long Island home because of a few words he gasped before his death. Linda tells him the whole story and tries to strangle her and she faints.

There are four guests in the house all suspects in the crime. They are: Captain DeVos, a handsome Belgian; Marvin Pratt, former master of the house; and Shaughnessy, Irish writer, since there is no evidence on which to base an arrest, they are asked when Dr. Boyle, medical examiner, sends word that everyone must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Linda finds the towel with which the attempt was made to strangle her-identified by a smear of sunburn ointment. She learns that the shirt for Shaughnessy and Tom searches for the shirt. Shaughnessy finds this out. To set matters right, Linda tells him the whole story and asks him to help untangle the mystery of her cousin's death.

Pretty Fleur Stoner invites DeVos to a dinner party next evening. Tom still has business to discuss with Linda and she agrees to let all the guests stay over until Monday morning.

Linda suggests to Statlander that his room be changed to the nursery which is cooler. He asks instead he can have the room of Cousin Amos. The room has been looked and Statlander shows great eagerness to get into it.

Linda nodded. "Of course he would. I should have asked the others. You'll drive him down?"

Instead, Statlander and I did rise, as service station, formerly operated by Frank Cox. Mr. Viele is making several minor improvements in the station and grounds."

OIL FLOW OF NEW GUSHER INCREASES; MORE WELLS STARTED IN BEACH FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.—The Wilshire Oil company's No. 15 well on Ocean avenue between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, has increased its flow steadily since coming in two days ago and is now said to be doing 7000 barrels of oil a day and five million cubic feet of gas.

The official report of the oil scouts in the offices of the major companies yesterday morning was that the well was doing 6000 barrels a day at that time. By noon it had jumped the gun and was headed for new records, with the gas screaming through the gas traps and the oil shaking the solid earth as it roared into tanks and pipe lines.

The Wilshire celebrated the new gusher by starting a new well right beside it. Concrete crews and form building crews were doubled, and the foundation work was rushed at a pace never seen in this field before. The new Wilshire well is putting out over $50,000 a day in value of products, and the company wants another one just like it and right beside it.

The Coombs well on Seventeenth street between Ocean and Walnut, a block and a half from the Wilshire well, came in for 1000 barrels yesterday, pumping and flowing by heads. Oil men differ about the prospects of this well. Some predict it will improve and others figure it as about a 500 to 600 barrel pumper. After a few days more the well will prove itself.

The new wells move the excitement eastward down the coast line from Twenty-third street to Seventeenth, and give possibilities to a string of town lots wells running down the first two blocks from Seventeenth to Sixth street.

BOARD MAKES PROMISES TO BE ECONOMICAL

PLACENTIA, July 20.—In a meeting postponed from Monday afternoon, members of the board of trustees of Placentia union grammar school last night promised representative of a citizens' committee that they would follow an economy policy if they were made trustees of the proposed Placentia Union High school by the election July 31.

Since the proposed district is co-terminus with the present grammar school district, the present trustees will take over high school affairs if the district is created by a favorable vote on election day.

The representatives of backers of the new school, headed by S. James Tuffrey, demanded the trustees' attitude toward the new district. The chief thing they wanted to know was the opinion of the board concerning cost of a high school plant.

Salaries of janitors, bus drivers, and gardeners who were receiving $100 a month were cut 10 per cent. Teacher placement was postponed by the board, on advice of Superintendent R. F. Esmer, until after election.

The board decided to seek safety exemptions for two old buses which have heretofore been exempted by the highway patrol. The vehicles are too old to be worth the improvements, trustees said.

and the morning newspapers liberally distributed over the ground floor and the lawn. In the big wheelbarrow chair, DeVos smoked and read. Linda from the bedroom window could see Mr. Statlander inspecting the work—if he could call it that—of the much-disapproved garden. She wondered if he would count the rake marks, to be sure it had been evenly applied. Shaughnessy was not in sight.

"Do you think we can stay upstairs long enough to go through it together?"
"That was my idea, Binks, but if you think one of us should be on deck one could go in and not the other."

"I'm crazy to talk to you. Did you get anything out of Marvin before breakfast? And did you hear him stop at Cousin Amos' door?"
"Yes, to both. I didn't get any reason for his trying to get in that room but I think I know what caused the final explosion yesterday morning."

"Oh, what? It seemed so queer—one of them going in deliberately, at that hour, just to quarrel?"
"You remember when we were starting for the dance asking Cousin Amos not to open the window on the balcony?"

"And we heard him proceed to do it the moment our backs were turned?"
"Well, in the night—that is, what was left of it after we came back from the club and before we started for the water—I remember hearing that door creaking. I couldn't quite place the sound at the time but it vaguely annoyed me."

"Oh? A light seemed to break on Linda. "Our door was closed but the others might not have been. It was the sort of thing that drives a nervous person frantic."

"Would you call any of these men nervous?"
"Not exactly." She pondered. "Marvin would be most apt to fit the word. He is rather nervous. I think but he's so controlled and sort of held in that you mightn't think it."

"But, Tom—" suddenly her mind flashed back to the morning before. "I heard it too—and wait a moment—"

She closed her eyes. "Yes, yes, now it comes back—This is what happened. You went ahead. I was looking for my cap. It was so hot, I just sort of stopped to get energy enough to go on. Our room door was ajar. I heard someone, walking—down the hall—very quietly. I heard a click—like turning a doorknob—and then that noise, Tom. Louder. You know—like this—" She seemed to imitate, softly, the raucous croak of a crow on a branch. "Rork-rork-rork* Sort of jerky—you couldn't count on it happening even distances apart. It's had me wild in the daytime. It would drive anyone crazy at night."

"A hot night." Tom mopped his face. "Hog as it was today, that morning had been worse. The very memory steamed him up."
"That was my idea, Binks, but if you think one of us should be on deck one could go in and not the other."

PIONEERS STAGED PICNIC IN CANYON

The Spanish-American club of Orange county held its annual barbecue recently at Sycamore Flats picnic grounds in the Santa Ana canyon. The principal object of the club is to revive the old friendly spirit that existed in California when the old ranchmen were kings of the range. Many of those who attended the picnic had not met for 10 or 15 years. Addresses were made by the president of the club, some of the directors and the oratory was climaxed by Rufus Nieblas in an imitation of a Will Rogers speech. The day's festivities ended with music, cowboy songs and dancing, music for which was furnished by members of the club.

Tibetans write their prayers on the shoulder blades of sheep and hang them over a pathway; when set in motion by passers-by, the bones are believed to offer up the prayer.

HOLD HEARING OF COUPLE ON NEXT THURSDAY

Postponed for the second time, the preliminary hearing of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Bennett, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder after the shooting of Homer P. Neyhard, Long Beach oil worker, in Trabuco canyon on June 8, will be held July 27 at San Juan Capistrano.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett were arraigned before Judge John Landell on June 13 and had bail set at $6000 cash or $10,000 property bond. The hearing was continued because Neyhard was fighting for his life in St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Bennett was released on her own recognizance at the hearing on June 28, which was continued until today.

Neyhard shot four times during the shooting affray in his mountain cabin, was able to return to his home in Long Beach last week. He was wounded when Bennett, a Long Beach plumber, came to the cabin and found Mrs. Bennett with Neyhard. Although Bennett admits he shot Neyhard, he claims he did it in self-defense when the Long Beach oil worker shot first.

Bennett has failed to raise bail and is still confined to the Orange county jail.

CONTROLLING SIN OF GENTILES TOLD

"Daniel's metallic man was likely the representation of the defilement of man during that period described as the 'times of the Gentiles.' Evangelist Ernest Beam said in his address at the Church of Christ, Birch and Fairview streets, last night.

"The controlling sin of the Gentiles has been their love for domination. To exercise authority over someone else has been the sin for many weary ages.

"Whether this sin shows itself in the form of a king up his throne, great captain of industry in full control of their field, or of bishops seeking to ascribe all power to themselves, the sin in each case is the desire to rule over someone. Daniel saw the Gentile age divided into four periods. The end of the image shows it ground to pieces and disappearing like the chaff of the summer threshing floor. The detailed account of the destruction of the great image shows that mercantiles and kings and those who have ships in the sea—all suffer in the general collapse of what is known under other symbols as Babylon."

Tonight the evangelist's subject is: "What About Those who Leave One Church and Become Members of Another?" The meetings continue each night this week, concluding with a full program next Sunday which will include three services and a joint dinner at noon. Visitors are expected from many places.

BAND GIVES 3RD PROGRAM TONIGHT

SEEKS $5794 IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Damages totaling $5794.45 are demanded in a suit filed against

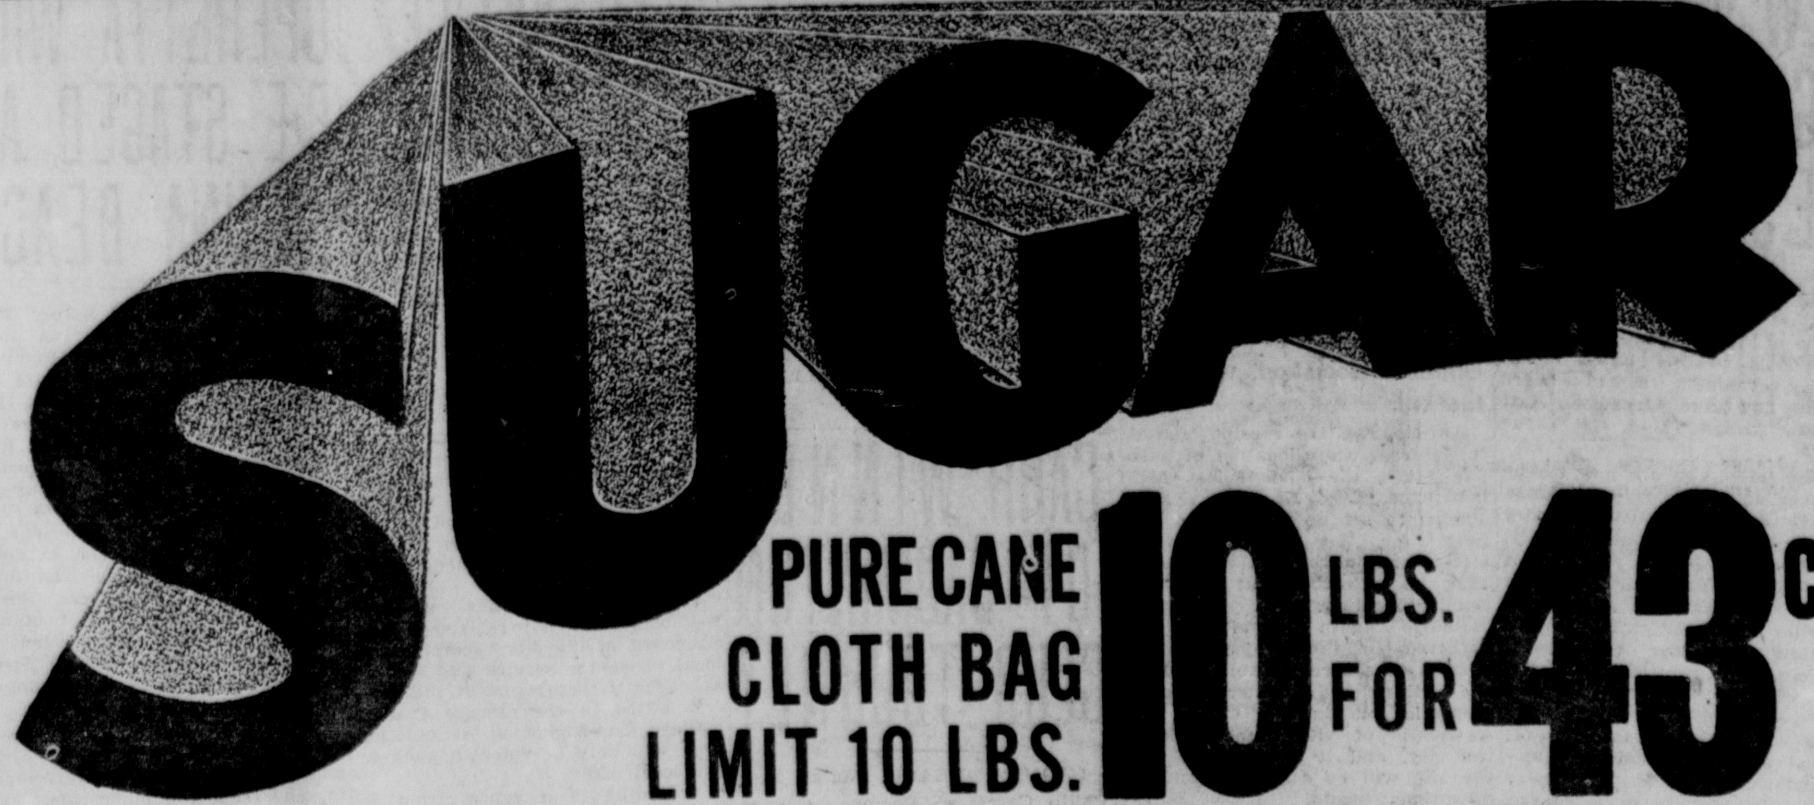

C. J. Eddleman, doing business as the Courtesy Cab company; Thomas G. Kirby, driver for the cab company, and Elizabeth Morgan. The suit was filed by May C. Paquette, formerly May Champion, as executrix of the last will of Mrs. Ida E. Reed, deceased. According to the complaint Mrs.

Reed died March 7, 1932, from injuries received November 6, 1932, when a taxicab, driven by Kirby and in which she was a passenger was involved in a collision with the car driven by Elizabeth Morgan. The crash happened at the intersection of Sixth and Bush streets and, according to the complaint, both cars were traveling at an unlawful speed.

Road tests with an automobile fuel containing 10 per cent alcohol, conducted by the American Automobile association, showed that the blend is nearly five per cent less efficient than regular gasoline.

County's Agricultural Income Totals $25,732,266

CITRUS BRINGS $17,129,516 TO THIS DISTRICT

Orange county's total income from agriculture in 1932 was $25,732,266, according to the annual report of Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs. This income, including costs of harvesting or packing, was nearly $3,000,000 less than in 1931.

The county's greatest income was through the citrus industry with a return of $17,129,516 from a production of 10,216,139 boxes of fruit. Citrus acreage totaled 56,930 acres of bearing trees and 12,732 of non-bearing. The major portion of the county's income from citrus production was from Valencia oranges. That crop returned to the county $14,722,436.

Lemons returned second in return with a total income of $1,835,589. Lemon acreage in the county is 6,576 bearing and 431 non-bearing. Navel and miscellaneous citrus crops returned $446,124, while the income from grapefruit was $125,367.

Walnuts returned to the county a total of $1,764,482 and other orchard crops returned $934,563. Avocados and berries were the outstanding orchard crops aside from citrus and walnuts. Berries returned a total of $518,925 and avocados returned $33,403. The sale of nursery stock, including trees, plants, and bulbs, returned to the county $279,653.

Truck crops returned $1,119,746, with the outstanding return being from peppers. That crop alone returned to growers a total of $489,958. Field crops made a cash return of $2,873,354 with beans as the outstanding income producing crop. The bean crop returned $1,399,994, with limas leading with a total income of $1,280,240.

In the division of field crops, grain made a cash return of $43,191 and hay returned $800,169 to the county.

Livestock, $1,883,600

Livestock returned to the county a total of $1,883,600 with dairy cattle leading the list. The cash

AFTER LINER, TANKER CRASH

Bound for Germany with 50 passengers on board, the City of Baltimore, flagship of the Baltimore Mail Line, got only as far as Chesapeake Bay when she collided in broad daylight with the tanker Beacon. The passengers removed safely, the liner is pictured after the crash with a jagged hole, 60 feet long, ripped in her starboard bow.

return to the county from dairy cattle was $963,600.

Honey returned $26,500 for 265 tons produced and the three tons of wax returned $600, making a total return for the honey industry of $27,100.

Releasing his annual report today, Tubbs said: "We have attempted this year to reduce citrus income to a figure indicating f.o.b. packing house receipts rather than the gross income including freight, as in crops of the past.

"This makes the total income for the various items under citrus comparable to the income received from other crops when they are produced, packed and marketed locally or loaded for transport. With some three-quarters of a million more packed boxes for the year 1932 than for 1931, the total net income from citrus was approximately $2,500,000 less.

Gross Acreage

"In connection with the citrus production, our figures represent gross acreage. We have not taken into account the decrease in planted acreage due to non-productive trees, residences, windbreaks, pipe lines, street curbs and other items. The non-bearing acreage is calculated on the basis of trees five years old and younger.

"The Valencia production on the basis of gross acreage would be 183 packed boxes per acre as compared to a figure of some 205 packed boxes based on a net acreage of productive trees shown by the assessor's office.

Production Increased

"While the walnut acreage in the county decreased during the year, the production was increased by 75 per cent and the total income will probably more than double that of the 1931 crop.

"The 1932 pepper crop from approximately the same acreage was more than double the 1931 production, with a net income of approximately one-third more. This condition was undoubtedly largely due to a decrease in the pepper weevil.

"The total receipts from truck crops shows an increase of some 20 per cent over 1931 and 10 per cent over 1930.

"In the field crops we find a decrease in the bean acreage of 25 per cent with a slightly higher average production and a probable income of $300,000 less than a year ago, and less than half the 1930 income from this crop.

Beet Output Up

"The sugar beet production shows a one hundred per cent increase in total tonnage with almost a similar rise in acreage and total income.

"While the income from all grains was twice that of last year, it is only about one-fourth the cash income of two years ago.

"The total received for hay with a 30 per cent decrease in acreage planted was twice the tonnage and receipt figure of 1931.

"The honey production for the past season is considerably in excess of a year ago although much less than for the 1930 crop.

"The production from live stock has shown a slight decrease during the past year."

NEW BLOCK OF FAMOUS HORSE BLEACHERS TO BE READY SOON

Finishing touches were being applied today to the new block of bleachers constructed on the west side of the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

The new seats were ordered built so that there would be adequate accommodations for the Fiesta del Oro celebration next week. There are now 6600 seats in the bowl, extending for 240 feet on the east and west sides and also along the south end.

Work is Rushed

The work of erecting the bleachers has been rushed by R.F.C. workers under the direction of H. M. Neighours, assistant city engineer. Work started July 5 and all that remained today was the building of permanent entrances and painting. It is probable that one coat of paint will be applied before the fiesta as a protective covering and the job completed after the three-day celebration.

Temporary entrances have been built from the Sixth and Eighth street sides. Tunnels will be constructed from Olive street to provide easy access to the seats. The new structure is 25 feet high, has 19 rows of seats and conforms in every way to the original bleachers on the east side.

Use Old Lumber

Much of the lumber was taken from the old city hall, which was torn down after the March earthquake. The entire cost of the work will aggregate about $2000, it was estimated by City Engineer J. L. McBride. It is predicted that the 20 per cent of fiesta receipts that go to the city will more than pay for the cost of the seats.

With bleachers on both sides of the field, football games are expected to be more popular in the bowl. The seats extend between the two 10-yard lines, as well as on the south end. Agitation has been carried on for several years to turf the field but sufficient funds have not been found to finance the cost. Both the high school and junior college are expected to play games on the field this fall.

CROWDS HEAR DR. JONES IN TWO SANTA ANA ADDRESSES; ANSWERS MISSION CHALLENGE

Answering the challenge hurled at the reality of Christian missions and declaring that a world, twice disillusioned, is attempting to rebuild following the pattern of Jesus Christ, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, noted missionary, spoke last night at the Santa Ana high school.

Last night Dr. Jones addressed before one of the largest crowds that has ever been in the auditorium. Every seat on the main and balcony floors was occupied and extra chairs were placed in the orchestra space and quickly filled.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Jones addressed a round-table conference of ministers and laymen in the main auditorium of the First Methodist church. The auditorium there was filled to capacity for the afternoon meeting.

Announcing his topic as "The Motive and the Aims of Christian Missions," Dr. Jones said that the whole question is being raised in new form and the reality of Christian missions is challenged. The challenge is based, he declared, on the charge of imperialism in religion and that the missions are pushing in where they are not wanted.

Cites Two Periods

The two periods of world disillusion, he said, were, first, that period after the World War when the world saw the aims and purposes of the war laid bare and found that they could not remake the world through the process of war; the second period of disillusion is just ending, he said.

The second period of disillusion came, he said, when the world straightened up after the war, and the nations admitted that they did not know why they became embroiled in the conflict. The people, according to Dr. Jones said "what is the use" and started to build a world for themselves.

The irreligious side came to the front and no desire was suppressed. After 10 years of doing as they liked, the speaker said, the world again is disillusioned. The fear that is eating at the heart of the western world today, he said, is the fear that there is no purpose in life.

People Turning Back

Dr. Jones said that he feels that now the people are turning back and are realizing that all

JURY FINDS TWO H. B. YOUTHS GUILTY

After deliberating more than four hours, a jury in department three, superior court, Tuesday found Kenneth McMillan and Ernest Ingersoll, of Huntington Beach, guilty of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls. Both youth filed oral applications for probation and Judge G. K. Seavel, before whom the trial was conducted, set July 28 at 9 a. m. as the time for hearing on the application and pronouncement of judgment.

The youths were convicted of contributing to the delinquency of Alma Stowell, 15, and Helen Stewert, 14, by keeping them out until a late hour, supplying them with intoxicating liquor, and committing statutory offenses against them.

Deputy District Attorney Leo Frits, in charge of the prosecution used both girls as witnesses for the prosecution.

PROOF THAT NEW FACE POWDER WON'T MAKE BLOTCHES

Many face powders are made out of cosmetics which darken when the oil in the perspiration strikes them. Perspiration comes out through the openings of your pores and the oil along with it. Every pore which is giving out oil is darkening the powder around the opening of the pores. Thus you have dark spots around the pores and white spots between them, making an ugly, blotchy face of blotches, especially on the nose.

The new Mello-gio Face Powder contains none of these inferior cosmetics which are so easily darkened by the oil in your perspiration. Prove it for yourself. Powder one side of your nose with another powder. Powder the other side with the new Mello-gio. In five minutes, let your mirror give you the answer.

We challenge the world to produce a finer and more luxurious face powder than the new Mello-gio. The new Mello-gio formula is the formula used by the most exclusive cosmetics in New York and Paris.

You don't buy face powder to make your face look doxy and blotchy. Therefore, do not waste your money on powders that you are not sure of. Ask for Mello-gio Face Powder by name. Look for the name Mello-gio Face Powder on the gold box. Refuse the unfair offer of "something just as good," which may blotch your face. Ask for Mello-gio by name and get it. 50c and $1. Tax free. ## Shower Precedes Departure For Vancouver

Honoring Mrs. Clarence Sorensen (Norma Tantlinger), was a lovely surprise event given last evening by Miss Martha Hendricks, West Second street, Tustin. Miss Hendricks was assisted by her mother, Mrs. M. B. Hendricks. When Mrs. Sorensen, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, arrived at the Hendricks home in response to an invitation to spend the evening, they found assembled a group of former high school classmates. Card games were played informally, at the close of which the honoree was showered with an array of the latest in linen handkerchiefs.

Pretty linens then replaced card table covers, and two courses of dainties were served, including gelatin salad with ribbon sandwiches, cake and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen, who have been visiting Mrs. Sorensen's parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, and Keith Tantlinger, of Tustin, and Mr. and Mrs. John V. Newman of Lemon Heights for the past three weeks, will leave tomorrow by auto for Vancouver, B.C., where they will visit with Mrs. Sorensen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sorensen, in September they will return to Cambridge, Mass., where Mr. Sorensen will continue his studies at Harvard, and Mrs. Sorensen at Radcliffe.

Young Santa Ana Girl Hurt In Accident

Miss Nathalie Mustol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Mustol, 1246 South Van Ness avenue, is recovering at her home from the effects of an accident sustained last week in Santa Monica.

Miss Mustol was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Borissoff of Los Angeles, in their summer home in Santa Monica. Last Thursday evening, in company with Miss Luvva Borissoff, young daughter of the home, she was riding on the scenic railway in the amusement zone, when in some manner she struck her head and was rendered unconscious.

She was taken to the emergency hospital where she showed such improvement that the following day she was removed to the Borissoff home. Again becoming unconscious, she was taken again to a hospital and her parents summoned. Mrs. Mustol and Miss Evelyn Mustol have been with her since and yesterday all returned home.

X-rays show two small fractures in her skull, but her improvement has been steady and no complications are feared.

Both Miss Nathalie and Miss Evelyn Mustol have been guests in the summer home of the celebrated Los Angeles cellist at intervals this summer and Miss Virginia Mustol is to spend next week there. Upon her return she will be accompanied by Miss Luvva Borissoff for a visit in Santa Ana.

Post-Nuptial Event Also Pays Tribute To Bride-Elect

A recent affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Hicks whose wedding was an event of June 12, was a surprise party given for them in their pretty home, 931 West Camilla street.

Guests were composed of members of the Christian Missionary Alliance church where the young people attend, and of Joe's Grocery where Mr. Hicks is employed. The group had planned all details of a successful party, from the interesting program and games to the refreshments of punch and iced cakes served to the 50 guests. Another surprise came when Mrs. Hicks was presented with a huge bouquet of flowers beneath which was concealed a quilt made and presented her by members of the Ladies' circle of the church. Her sister, the former Miss Alta Gregg, now Mrs. Charleton Rhinard, a bride of Monday evening, was given a similar quilt. Presentation was made by Beverly Weisgerber and Margaret Abbott, who were flower girls at the Gregg-Rhinard wedding.

The birthday anniversary of Miss Lois Detweiler was pleasantly observed Tuesday evening, when she was entertained with a surprise birthday dinner given by Miss Beulah Martin in her home, 814 Cypress avenue.

A pale pink and green color scheme was employed throughout the affair, emphasized by streamers extending from the chandelier overhead to individual outcups of the same colors at each place. Ferns and pink tapers completed the appointments of the room.

Following the delectable dinner, a beautiful program of piano and vocal music was given by Mrs. Lawrence Owen.

Present in addition to the honoree, Miss Detweiler, and the hostess, Miss Martin, were the Misses Hilred Martin, Clara Dunham, Virginia Garmoe, Mary Detweiler, Anne Detweiler, Eva Martin, Vena Martin, and Mesdames Lawrence Owen, Sara Shambaugh and Nettie Detweiler.

McInnis, Ensey Campbell, Ruth Riggie, Carl Pieter, John J. Vernon, Irwin Frevert, and Miss Edna Case and two special guests, Mrs. A. G. Edwards and Mrs. J. Beam, and the hostess, Mrs. Westcott and two daughters of the home, Lorraine and Arden.

Local Girl Reveals Recent Wedding Date

Expected home this week from a honeymoon which took them as far north as Crater lake are Mr. and Mrs. Hal Henderson, whose marriage was an event of July 8. The wedding took place in the parsonage of Burbank Christian church, with the Rev. Harry H. Hill, pastor, formerly of Orange, officiating.

The bride was Miss Betty Warling, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Warling, 1126 North Sycamore street, while the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hallie Henderson of Riverside.

For the quiet rites, Miss Warling wore a formal dress of white silk crepe with white accessories and corsage of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Edward Keightley, of Los Olivos, while Mr. Keightley served Mr. Henderson as best man.

The young couple will be established in Riverside, where Mr. Henderson is service manager for the Firestone Tire company's store. He is a graduate of Orange Union High school, while the new Mrs. Henderson attended Santa Ana Polytechnic High school. She is a native of California as well as of Santa Ana, and comes from a family long established in this city, as she is the granddaughter of the late Judge Ed Smithwick, who had resided in this community for a period of 54 years.

Departure for Oregon Incentive for Party

As a farewell gesture to Miss Elizabeth Bittle who leaves shortly with her parents and brothers to establish a new home in Oregon, members of her Sunday school class of the First M. E. church gathered last evening in her home 1516 West Washington avenue, for a pleasant surprise.

Music and group singing and a variety of games whittled away the hours all too quickly, and at the close of the evening, refreshments of punch and wafers were served by the self invited guests. Upon their departure the honoree was presented with a lovely basket of flowers and a handsome folder of stationery.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wellington, the latter of whom is teacher of the class, and Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bittle and sons Billy, Horace and John and the honoree Miss Elizabeth Bittle all of the home, and the Misses Margaret Davies, Ina Low, Dorothy Skidder, Mary Tomlinson, Margie Brown, Harriett Ulrich, Betty Frye, Dorothy Skinner, Jewel McIntyre, Hazel Forrester, Barbara Speed and Dorothy Bernard.

Evening Ceremony Is Significant For Its Beauty

A canopy of greenery and gladioluses in tints of pink and yellow over the altar of the Christian Missionary Alliance church, formed a lovely background for the wedding rites Monday evening of Miss Alta Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Gregg, 602 South Broadway, to Charleton J. Rhinard, son of Mrs. Nora Rhinard, South Van Ness avenue.

The double ring ceremony, which took place at 8 o'clock, was conducted by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the church. Preceding the entrance of the bride, small Donna Jean and Margie Lee Buck, stole softly in, lighting the waxen tapers which provided the only illumination. Orion Bebermeyer sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Mrs. Bebermeyer, followed by "O Promise Me" sung by Miss Edith Cornell, accompanied by Mrs. Mervyn Bryte. After an appropriate piano solo, Mrs. Bryte played Lohengrin's Wedding March, to which the bridal party entered.

The bride was lovely in traditional white satin trimmed in lace, and wore a veil fastened to her hair with a circlet of orange blossoms, and floating into a long train. She carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley tied with white tulle. Matron or honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Gaylord Hicks, whose wedding occurred only last month. She wore turquoise chiffon and carried pompadour dahlias in pastel tints, tied with a tulle bow of turquoise. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Moody Schrock in yellow organdy, carrying lavender sweet peas; Mrs. Nell Hall, another sister of the bride, in green organdy with yellow sweep peas, and Miss Esther Hoar in peach organdy with peach sweet peas. Each bouquet was tied in tulle matching the individual frocks.

Small Beverly Weisgerber and Margaret Abbott, the latter a niece of the bridegroom, preceded the bridal party, scattering rose-petal from aprons of their quaint colonial frocks, one in pink and the other in white. Master George Bramley in white suit with satin cape, followed, carrying the twin rings on a satin pillow.

Groom's Attendants
Gaylord Hicks assisted Mr. Rhinard as best man, while ushers were Merrill Hooker of Pasadena, Moody Schrock and Guy Rhinard, brother of the bridegroom. Each wore a gardenia boutonniere.

The party left the altar to the Mendelssohn recessional, and the young couple left immediately by automobile for a honeymoon in Yosemite.

Mr. Rhinard is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, and is employed as cashier in Joe's Grocery. The bride also attended Santa Ana high school. On their return they will be established in a cozy home on South Van Ness avenue.

when a grand old cook served it for my luncheon. Being food-minded, I had to find out just how she did it. She told me to—"Put a skillet over the fire, rub it with a bit of suet just to slightly oil it, when very hot shake in enough salt to barely cover the bottom of the pan, and let it get sizzling hot before the steak is put to cook. Turn frequently while cooking, when finished transfer to a hot platter, spread the steak with soft butter, add a few spoonfuls of hot water to the steak pan and pour the thin brown gravy over the steak. A shake of pepper, and the steak is ready."
This way of cooking steak is what I call swell food!

TODAY'S RECIPES

Salmon Cheeks

6 salmon cheeks to each serving
1 beaten egg
Cracker crumbs
Salt, pepper and
Cooking fat
In case you do not know, salmon cheeks are little bits of flesh on either side of the salmon's jaw. They are extremely delicate and loved by gourmets. Halibut cheeks are next best.
Wash and wipe the cheeks, dip them in egg, then in crumbs and let stand for 15 minutes. Fry them to a golden brown in plenty of hot bacon, bacon fat preferably.

DEVILED CRAB

(For Six)

1-2 pound crab meat
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 cup thin cream
1 egg, beaten
Dash of cayenne
Salt, pepper, paprika
1 small onion, ground fine
1-2 green pepper, ground
Flake the crab meat and mix with the cream and beaten egg. Mix the dry seasonings with cracker crumbs, then with the crab meat. Let stand 15 minutes, add minced onion and green pepper, and bake in scallop shells for 30 minutes. Top the crab in shell with plenty of butter.

If you use small shells they go on the dinner plate, flanked with the serving of salmon cheeks, a small serving of potatoes and a green vegetable. Of course, the crab may be baked in one dish and be quite as nice. The shells are convenient for serving and look nice, that's all.

A serving of salmon cheeks and

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Say, we are getting no place fast! How long is his pace going to last?" said Duncy. "Gee, this snail's so slow this is no fun at all."

"I've yelled to it to giddyap. I think it's lost, now, in a map. The only way we'll travel fast is just to take a fall."

"Have patience, Duncy," Doty cried. "I know this is a funny ride, but I knew this would happen. Every snail is very slow."

"We're foolish if we fuss and fret. We'll have to take just what we get. And, anyway, we do not know just where we want to go."

Then Shrimpy said, "It was a trick! Wee Duncy thought it would be slick to ride, instead of walk. He is a very lazy lad."

"I think, with this experience, he'll change his mind, unless he's dense. Right now, to take a nice long walk, he really should be glad."

The Tinies then slid to the ground and suddenly they looked around, as Scouty yelled, "Look out! We've found a real good way to ride."

"Just watch us as we whiz right past. We've found a horse that goes real fast. Unless you want to get bumped, you had better run and hide."

"For goodness sakes," said Doty. "They have slipped one o'er on us today. Gee, Goldy's in with Scouty and they're riding in a shell."

"A seahorse is hitched up in the front. My goodness, what a crazy stunt. I guess they both are tickled 'cause they're starting, now, to yell."

Then Goldy cried, "Giddyap! Don't whoa! We're anxious to keep on the go! We'll show the other Tinies what a real good ride is like."

"This shell is comfy as can be and very much appeals to me. As long as I have this fine carriage, I don't want to hike."

(The Tinies reach the Little Red Schoolhouse in the next story.)

THE REVIVAL OF THE CONFLICT OF CHURCH AND STATE

It required centuries of conflict for the church to win its independence from the domination of the state. That independence has once more been challenged wherever dictatorship has taken control, as in Russia, Italy, and Germany. In Russia, the dictatorship has simply subordinated the church into a timid cult which hardly dares to assert itself. In Italy, the Roman Catholic church has had metes and bounds set for its activities. There the curtailing of the power of the church by the government of Mussolini has only been tolerated because of the political independence granted the Roman See within the boundaries of Vatican City.

Now the conflict is on in Germany. In the interest of what he calls a "totalitarian state," Chancellor Hitler is endeavoring to bring the Evangelical Church of Germany into subordination of the Nazi state. A daring attempt is being made by the Chancellor to destroy the inner liberty of the Church after an independence of four hundred years.

Germany marks the birthplace of the independence of the church in the modern age. The German Reformation has left its stamp upon Northern Europe and North America. If now the Protestantism of Germany surrenders to the demands of the Nazi government, and surrenders what Bishop Bodelschwingh has called its "inner liberty," it will mark a setback of centuries for the church in Germany.

There is every indication that German Protestantism will not surrender. Hitler is dealing with a different opposition from that which he has faced in his challenge of political parties. All the political parties, with the exception of the Centrist, the Roman Catholic party, have been outlawed. His challenge to the independent existence of the church has caused him to pause. German Protestantism possesses a freedom acquired during one of the historic conflicts of history. It will not surrender without opposition; and that opposition is represented by the dominant portion of the German empire, and by many of the political leaders of the Reich.

President Hindenburg, notwithstanding the drastic revision of the Weimar Constitution by the Act of last March establishing the dictatorship of the Nazis, still has the Constitutional power to discharge the Chancellor, and he is still vested with the supreme control of the armed forces of the Reich. Therefore, his note to Chancellor Hitler concerning this situation will at least modify the intentions he has had in mind with reference to German Protestantism. "The differences which have developed between the Prussian government and the Evangelical churches," he writes, "fill me, as an Evangelical Christian and as Reich's chief, with grave concern. The Evangelical churches are profoundly anxious concerning the church's inner liberty. The situation, if allowed to continue or to aggravate, must cause the most grave prejudice to our nation and fatherland. Before God and my own conscience, I feel obliged to do all possible to obviate such an outcome. I trust your statesmanlike vision will find a way to restore peace to the church and the government."

These are strong and grave words. They will be heeded by the arrogant Hitler, who is not immune to pressure, as was manifest in his utterance following the appeal of President Roosevelt some months ago to the rulers of the peoples of the world, German Protestantism cannot surrender in the light of its history and its deep sense of that "inner liberty" which is its most precious heritage. Protestants of the entire world are interested in the outcome of this conflict between church and state in Germany.

TWO GREAT MEMORIAL DAYS

France has just celebrated Bastille Day. July 14 is to France what July 4 is to us here in the United States. It commemorates the fall of Bourbon tyranny and the rise of the people. As such it is a day of rejoicing.

From 1870, when the victorious German troops evacuated Paris, after the peace which wrenched the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine from France and called for an indemnity of one billion francs, it was customary on Bastille Day to hang crepe on the statue of Strassburg, which, with the other cities of France, was thus symbolized on the Place de la Concorde in Paris. That was discontinued when (after the treaty of Versailles) the lost provinces were restored to France.

Since 1918, France has mixed no bitterness and revenge with its rejoicing on Bastille Day. But in Germany, the recent memorial of the signing under duress of the Treaty of Versailles, by the representatives of Germany, was observed amid sorrow and a concealed revenge. As long as the day is observed, it will destroy the spirit of concord between these two countries which are compelled to exist side by side.

The reports coming from Germany of the observance of that day recalls once more the wounds left by war, and especially a war ended by a dictated peace which humiliates for years to follow the vanquished nation. History and experience are slow to teach nations as well as individuals their lessons. Only when the fortunate experiences are set over against the unfortunate ones do we mark the folly and the futility of permanently humiliating a vanquished foe.

When our Civil War ended with the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, the spirit of revenge ran high among many Northerners. It was a fortunate fact for the future of our country that such extremists as Charles Sumner, Benjamin F. Wade, and Thaddeus Stevens, all of them noble characters in spite of their limitations,—did not have their way. The rift between North and South would have continued on through generations; and the unity which we prize so highly would have been deferred for many years. The wounds of that civil strife would have been left open, and the progress and the prosperity which the people of the nation have since enjoyed might not yet have been realized.

Here was a case where wisdom as well as magnanimity triumphed over resentment and revenge, to the benefit of victor and vanquished alike. Had the same wisdom and magnanimity been manifested by the peacemakers of 1870 and 1918, there might not have been a Great World War, and there might not have been the long period of economic chaos which has marked the world since the drastic peace of 1918. Deliverance from a tyranny such as is celebrated here on July 4 and in France on July 14 may serve as an inspiration to a people. But the decoration with crepe of the statue of a city representing an alienated province, and the sad memorial of a dictated peace such as has just been observed all over Germany, keep fresh the wounds of conflict, and ever threaten the peace of nations.

STOCK MARKET SPECULATION STILL SERIOUS PROBLEM

Stocks declined yesterday, as did barley, corn and cotton, on the stock market and grain exchanges. In some cases the drop was quite considerable. This is particularly true of stocks having to do with the manufacture of alcohol.

We have called attention to the fact that the prices of stocks have gone beyond reason, and that they were bound to go down. It was generally believed that the speculative era in the United States was over; that lessons had been taught, but in some sections of the country, during the past weeks, agencies of stock brokers were crowded, and, in some cases people were waiting in line, as you would see them at a theater or a circus. They were waiting in line to take a chance on making or losing their money.

The rising market encouraged the more timorous and probably thousands in the country were wiped out again, who had put small amounts of money on margins. Well, this is a case where sympathy would be entirely wasted.

It almost makes one feel that the hundreds of thousands of men who have lost in the market, and now have nothing no chance, and must work, are really in better condition than the ones who have to go through experience before they can learn. We know of investments that have never failed to pay their regular percentage right straight through the depression, and which are assured as well as anything humanly can be, up to seven per cent, and can be purchased at prices to yield that. But people are so anxious not for a fair income but for several times what could be considered legitimate, and thereby multiplying the value of their capital, that money which should be used for legitimate investment is not available. It makes one part of our serious problem in returning prosperity. However, we believe we are too far along on the upturn for this stock flurry to have serious effect.

Turning Power Into Purr

Christian Science Monitor

The automobile engine has gone a long way since Mr. Henry Ford made the experiments which, as he tells the tale, nearly "wrecked his kitchen sink." Thousands of drivers have vivid recollections of those early engines and their attempts to propel the vehicles in which they were inclosed.

The propelling plant of an early automobile was not to be denied a hearing. Consisting generally of but one or two cylinders, it aspired to hide its inferiority in the shouting of its exhaust. Happy days, nevertheless, were spent with the undependable contraptions which, however coy and deceptive, had an appeal that spread fresh hopes before their victims, even as each succeeding proof of their duplicity tended to urge an immediate desertion.

Many an automobilist, equipped with duster, goggles, gloves and other paraphernalia, has started forth on a day's outing with about as good prospects of arriving at his destination as an early aviator had of flying the Atlantic.

Those were the days when the driver figured on spending half the time of his trip walking around his "bus" with a monkey wrench in one hand and part of the automobile in the other. And the sight of a pair of shoes sticking out from beneath a shiny but silent automobile was only a sign to rural residents for same such remarks as, "Giddap, there, Maud! I set out fer sum-whares, I wanten know I'm getting there."

Yes, the automobile engine has gone a long way since then. Instead of making enough noise to "scare Dobbin clean back to Barnstable," it now runs so silently that drivers sometimes feel inclined to get out and get under to see if they have brought the motor along.

Spinsters On Guard

New York Times

The pioneer mother on guard with rifle at the cabin door against prowling danger from man or beast now has a companion-piece. Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court has just pronounced the eulogy of the "old maid" in the family, the unmarried woman worker and her role in the depression. By the tens of thousands she has stood on guard against the wolf at the door while the men-folk have been trudging the streets for work.

But it is not only of the depression that Judge Allen might have spoken. In 1929, at the height of the boom, there were nearly 110,000 income tax returns made by "single women, heads of families." This must mean the unmarried women upon whom have fallen the charge of families orphaned or otherwise bereft of a breadwinner.

Things change and remain the same. The maiden aunt who used to tend the children and help with the cooking has gone out into the world and become gainfully occupied. But her pay envelope in a majority of cases remains fair game for the family. The eldest daughter still acknowledges family responsibilities which the eldest son lays down as a matter of course.

THE BETTER PART OF VALOR

To track a snarling tiger in the jungle,
To beard a writhing python in its lair.
To seek a week to kill a
Mean and lusty limbed gorilla.
Or to stalk for days a growling grizzly bear,
May to men who care but little for existence
Bring a temporary pleasure, of a sort;
Danger has a strong attraction
To a fearless man of action
But I hardly think that I should call it sport.

A combat with a large and hairy lion
Is a test of nerve I would not care to seek.
For these brutes, though sometimes placid
Often get morose and acid.
And indulge in quite disturbing fits of pique.
It might, I own be rather titillating
To see the mighty creature turn and run,
And to know that he so feared me
That he did not dare to beard me,
But I don't believe that I should call it fun.

I'm told that climbing steep and lofty mountains
Is a splendid test of human nerve and skill,
Its wide and white crevasses
Its springs of sulphur gases
Give daring mountaineers a glorious thrill.
I've heard 'em say they love to wage a battle
With the Matterhorn or Jungfrau as a foe,
But I find the world more charming
And a great deal less alarming
When I gaze upon its summits from below.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

RESISTANCE OR RECONSTRUCTION

The last twenty-five years have seen a lush growth of all sorts of commercial organizations in the United States.

Every industry is literally alive with an array of federations, institutes, leagues and so on.

And bewildering variety of organizations that cut across trade lines have arisen to deal with the larger policies of business, industry and finance.

In short, we have an elaborate system of unofficial economic organizations in the United States.

England has the same sort of thing.

A distinguished expert in commercial policy from Central Europe, noting this development in England, said recently to Sir Arthur Salter, "You in England have a more elaborate system of economic organizations than any other country. You have Chambers of Commerce and Federations of Industry. You have Employers' Organizations and Trade Unions which fix wages. You have rings or understandings which, within considerable limits, determine prices. You have social legislation which settles a large part of the overhead costs of every business."

"We are entering a period in which great adaptations to changing conditions will be necessary. Your institutions may in this period be a great handicap or they may be a great advantage.

"If they are used only to resist and postpone changes ultimately necessary, they will be a great handicap."

"But if they could be used to anticipate and accelerate the changes that must eventually come, they might be a great advantage, for they would enable you to make the necessary adaptations that will come more slowly and with great waste from the ruthless operations of blind but compelling economic forces."

This statement should be pasted in the council chambers of every unofficial economic organization in the United States. We need, in the United States, to do what this distinguished Central European suggested to Sir Arthur Salter the English should do - we need to convert these economic bodies into instruments of rapid and unswerving adaptation from the instruments of resistance that they may have so largely been for the last quarter century.

FORBIDDEN FRUITS

Since the morning in the Garden of Eden fruit has tempted the children of man. Especially does it speak to the younger children. Turn them loose in the garden where berries and cherries and apples grow and unless you put a guard over them they will eat of the fruit of the tree, green or red or blue, it is all the same to them.

This is not always a healthy practice and some instruction and some guidance must be given children who are unused to the ways of the fruit grower and of the growing fruit. Green fruit will bring on colic. Warm children that colic means a sharp pain in their tender places. Should the warning fail, and should the colic come, be prepared with hot water, a physic and a patient soul that will see you through the next few days when the victim must stay on a light and rather fluid diet.

There is another danger. For every fruit that grows there is a worm or a fly or a something or other waiting to devour it. The only way we can get any fruit for ourselves is to spray and spray and keep on spraying with poisons that kill the pests.

As a usual thing we do not get enough of these poisons on the fruit to do serious harm to the children who eat it unwashed. But I have known children to be very ill after eating currants that had been sprayed. The only way to safeguard them against this sickness is to teach them about the poisons. Let them see the bugs if possible. Let them see the poisons and the sprayers. Then let them watch what happens to the bugs and beetles and worms. That ought to be enough to teach the average child that fruit has to be well washed before it is eaten.

Forbidden children to eat the fruit in the garden never works. They will eat it in spite of all we can say. The best way to do is to say, "You are welcome to eat what you like but for your stomach's sake see that what you like to eat is clean, before you put it in your mouth." Then keep a watchful eye on them to see that they carry out instructions. Fruit is such a lure that a mere forbidding won't deny it.

Little children ought not to be allowed in the garden where currants and berries are growing within reach of their hands. By little children I mean those about five and six and under. Their fruit is better cooked. They have their orange juice and tomato juice of course, but they will want some of the berries and they ought to have them. Give them the ripest of the raspberries, those that are heavy with sweetness, uncooked, if they want them. But cook the currants. Make them into tarts.

Some children cannot tolerate strawberries. If eating them brings out the rash then the only thing to do is to direct the child's mind to some other sort of cook them. Jam and tarts and pie all the ways taste good, especially to the children who are not allowed many sweets. Pie won't hurt them if the shortening is sweet and light.

All this comes hard on those who have to care for children in the country. A good way out is to take the children along to see the small fruits, talk about the day when they are going to be ready, promise that they shall help pick, help make them into good things to eat. Maybe there can be an ice cream and raspberry party. Parties are almost as strong in allure as berries. Both of them are all right under the right conditions.
